HOW TO PROLONG YOUR STUDY IN SLOVENIA?

If you would like to study in Slovenia longer than planned, please contact the Slovenian national coordinator Mrs. Petra Vilfan (Petra.Vilfan@cmepius.si) at least 1 month before the expected end of your study visit to Slovenia. She will inform you, how your study in Slovenia can continue – which kind of a further grant you can apply for. Namely, apart from Erasmus+ exchanges, there exist also other programmes for students' exchanges (e.g., CEEPUS, bilateral agreements ...) and she will kindly identify the right one for you, if only it exists.

THE LANGUAGE OF THE STUDY OF HISTORY AT OUR DEPARTMENT

Every winter semester, lectures of the course History of Southeast Europe in the 19th century are held in English.

Other lectures and seminars in the winter semester and all courses in the summer semester are almost always held in Slovenian. They are only held in English, if percentages of foreign students attending these classes are high and at the same time also Slovenian students agree with English as the language of lectures/seminars. Many courses also host e.g. one lecture by an invited foreign specialist per year – these lectures are usually also held in English.

If lectures/seminars are in Slovenian, all incoming students are offered individual consultations in English, at some professors in German (or in another language based on agreement between professors and students: see the notes on languages in the tables (lists of courses) below).

EXAMS:

The language of the great majority of oral and written exams and seminars can be Slovenian or English (or German or French or Italian or Croatian or Serbian ...). English is usually one of the possible languages of exams, but there are exceptions. Please check the language of exams of each course carefully on the list of classes below.

THE BEGINNING OF YOUR STUDY AT OUR DEPARTMENT

Upon your arrival, please visit the International Office of our faculty first.

Then contact the departmental coordinator Dr. Žiga Zwitter (whom you already contacted before your arrival), if your Learning agreement has not been signed yet. Please do this at the departmental welcome meeting for incoming students.

At the beginning of your first semester in Ljubljana (e.g. in the first or second week of the semester) all incoming students will be invited to a welcome meeting with the head of the department, the department's coordinator of international exchanges, with representatives of our history students, tutors, of the Slovenian section of the International Students of History Association, and with a librarian.

Please contact your professors personally (during their office hours), not only by e-mails, as soon as possible after the departmental welcome meeting. Exceptions are Prof. Mlacović and Prof. Selišnik (course History of Southeast Europe in the 19th century in the winter semester), whom you will be meeting in the classroom every week, so there is no need to visit them during their office hours at the beginning – but, of course, feel free to visit them as well, if you have any questions.

When you personally visit all your professors soon after your arrival (please respect the office hours), ask them:

- (1) what your tasks in the frame of a certain course are (exam/seminar),
- (2) which literature you are expected to study,
- (3) will the lectures/seminar be held in English/in Slovenian (you can be sure that the course History of SE Europe in the 19th century will be held in English every winter semester):
  - a. in Slovenian > professor will be available for individual consultations with you, but you will not attend regular meetings with Slovenian students,
  - b. in English > do your best to attend the lectures/seminar,
- (4) when your exam will be scheduled/what the deadline to submit the seminar is,
- (5) how you will inform the professor one week before the exam that your previously agreed exam date will really be your exam date (via Student Information System (VIS) or via e-mail).

Offices, office hours, e-mail addresses and phone numbers of professors:

please visit their homepages here: Presentation of staff | Oddelek za zgodovino | Filozofska fakulteta Univerze v Ljubljani \(uni-lj.si\)

The best way to contact professors is to visit them personally during their office hours (obligatory at the beginning), later e-mails are also usual; phone calls are not as usual as e-mails.

In times of COVID-19, office hours usually take place on-line, so please send an e-mail to every professor whom you plan to visit a day or two before your planned visit. If professors will not be there personally, they will send you links to zoom meetings.

COURSES IN 2021/22:

Classrooms and timetables (all courses) are documented here: <http://urnik.ff.uni-lj.si/en/> (please enter the surname of the lecturer to be able to find out easily, when and where your course is scheduled; surnames of lecturers are given in this file (History for Exchange Students) in the tables below OR simply visit the secretary of our department (please respect the office hours: 11 a.m.–1 p.m.), tell her the titles of your selected courses and she will kindly explain, when and where your courses will be held).

Description of the course History of SE Europe, with regular lectures in English (winter semester, 2021/22): The course focuses on the crucial historical processes in the history of SE Europe in the discussed period. Students are acquainted with events in economy, politics and culture, as well as changes in social structures alongside the simultaneous weakening of previously dominant powers (Ottoman empire, Austria-Hungary). Special emphasis is placed on the development of modern nations and the emergence of nation-states as well as the role of medieval history in their newly created national histories (national myths).

Please note that not all courses listed in the edited volumes take place every academic year, so have a look at the final list of courses in 2021/22 here:
